(EA) Dog-in-a-Doublet Visitor Mooring

TL269992

Short stay (max. 48 hours) floating pontoon visitor mooring.

The Dog-in-a-Doublet Lock and Sluice Complex protects Peterborough and the surrounding area from surge tides. The name derives from the dog owned by a previous landlord of the nearby pub, said to have had a skin condition which caused him to lose his fur. His owner dressed him a small waistcoat (or doublet) to keep him warm, hence the name 'Dog-in-a-Doublet'.

(EA) Guyhirn Tidal Mooring

TF398032

Short stay (max. 48 hours) floating pontoon visitor mooring.

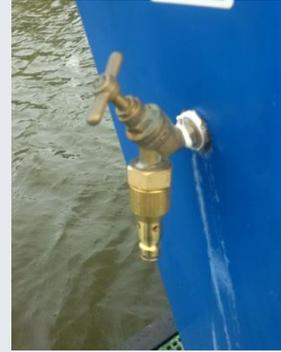

The River Nene is tidal downstream of the Dog-in-a-Doublet and this mooring provides safety for boats on this tidal stretch. All passages through the Dog-in-a-Doublet tidal lock must be booked at least 24 hours in advance with the lock keeper, telephone 01733 202219.

EA Water Points

Our water points are fitted with the type of connection shown in this photograph to comply with the Water Supply (Water Fittings) Regulations 1999, as required by Anglian Water, the water supplier.

You will need your navigation key to operate our water points, plus a female push-fit connector to attach your hosepipe to the fittings.

We hope that you will find this quick guide useful. EA moorings are designed with your safety in mind, particularly for when river flows and levels may be higher than usual. We've taken our photographs at quiet times so please be aware that Visitor Moorings can get very busy during the summer months. Make time to plan ahead and arrive in good time.

Local marinas, boat clubs, councils, some landowners and other organisations all provide a variety of moorings, sanitary facilities, slipways, chandlery and fuel sales along the River Nene. Charges apply at some sites; please check local signage for details.

Updated versions of this guide will be made available on www.northamptonmarina.co.uk from where you can print or download the latest guide to your laptop, tablet, or smartphone.
